FEILD OF ACTIVITIES

In Pakistan:

Education:

Since 1984 HCI is running Schools for Afghan children, at present we are operating a middle School for boys at Hope village complex in Akora Khattak.

Hope Village School was providing educational facilities up to middle level to 684 students, among these 200 students are living in School hostel.

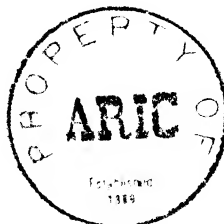

Purpose of the project is to provide an extend basic educational services to poor Afghan children and especially to orphan. HCI is providing all the educational facilities. I.e.. Uniforms, Schoolbooks, and stationery free of cost to the students who are coming from the camp.

The hostel children are provided free food, clothing, books, stationeries and other daily use items.

Hope Village School is equipped with a library with good collection of education related books and on books on children related subjects.

The students are also encouraged to participate in other co-educational activities, such as easy writing competition, story writing and other than educational activities such as sports ...etc. for their healthy growth.

Hope Village School maintained good education standard. From the beginning of the academic year the new enrollment reached to 684 students against the previous strength of 430, but with the starting of repatriation process, the strength reduced.

Sponsoring Afghan girls for their education

HCI is currently sponsoring 9 Afghan girls for their education in primary Schools with uniforms, School fee, books and stationeries in Peshawar.

These little girls and their families are very happy with HCI assistance, because in the urban area there is no free School for Afghan children, and the families living in urban areas belongs to Kabul city and they are much found of education for their children. These children are very active and always got good results in their respective classes.

Higher education sponsorship for Afghans

HCI is sponsoring one Afghan female in Afghan medical college and one Afghan male in a Pakistani Engineering College (in Texella) for the last two years. The female student is in third year of the medical college and the male also in 3rd year of the engineering college. This is a part of HCI's higher education assistance program for Afghan refugees.

Vocational Training Centre (VTC):

HCI provides vocational training to 190 young Afghan children those are residing in the hostel, the children are being trained on variety of fields viz. (tailoring, leather good making, carpentry, carpet weaving and patto/shawl weaving) under supervision of expert trainers. Program aims at "providing vocational training, technical skills by virtue of that technical knowledge they can have an in-come generation opportunities" in future.

In the last 6-month period we have trained 190 children in tailoring, carpet weaving, carpentry work,

Mother & Child Health Care Program:

As we were operating a 24 hours Basic Health Unit (BHU) for the Afghan refugees with our partner organizations CARE International & MRCA hospital, as the BHU or a full capacity hospital is very much needed for the refugees population, because the camp is very far from the urban health facilities. The health unit proved very beneficial for the poor people of the area. The clinic was staffed with two doctors, two nurses (males and females) laboratory technician, dispenser and a health educator plus OPD operator. The people were very happy and comfortable with the services of the facility. Daily 120 to 150 patients were attending and benefited from the services. But in December 2001, on the expiry of the agreement, we have again to switch the facility to a limited scale Mother & Child Health care clinic on five day a week basis with a MD lady doctor a male nurse/dispenser.

MCH clinic is serving for females and children of Akora Khattak refugee's camps. Due to restriction of funds daily an average of 40 patients from the camps and School are benefited from MCH clinic services, serious patients are referred to other big hospitals in Peshawar.

Psychiatry Clinic:

In March we have conducted a seminar on psychiatry first time in refugee camp, the expert were from the University of Missouri United States. A large number of participants attended the seminar, on the conclusion of the seminar and on the demand of the participants and camp elders, the mental health experts and HCI agreed to establish a psychiatry clinic in Hope village in first step and then in September or earlier October 2002 to develop it to a counseling centre for the refugees as is promised by our donors. This counseling centre will be a base from here we will deliver the services to other camps and refugees located area.

From April 2002 the psychiatry clinic is in operation, we have engaged specialist Doctor from Khyber Teaching hospital, a very famous teaching hospital in Peshawar and a social worker. In the initial stage it works a day per week basis, on its working days up to 180 people visit the clinic but we could entertained only 60 patients, we are considering to increase the number of days with consultation with the donors, hopefully in mid of September we can increase the working days of this clinic.

This clinic is very much beneficial for the refugee and day by day the patients numbers are increasing, the refugees always praises the clinic performance.

SKILL DEVELOPMENT & MICRO CREDIT PROJECT:

Human Concern International with having in mind to assist the vulnerable groups and to involve them in community development, for the last three years we are operating this program with the assistance of different donor's agencies. The training comprises of following fields:

For widows and poor women from the camp

Tailoring

Carpet Weaving

Embroidery/Knitting

45 females were trained in tailoring, carpet weaving and embroidery and knitting. After completion of the course, certificates were distributed and tool kits were given to the trainees for work for their own. HCI is regularly monitoring their work and helping them in marketing their products and finding works for them on wages basis.

An another batch of 45 trainees are learning the skill in Carpet weaving, Tailoring and Embroider/knitting.

Since the overall objective of the project was to enable the vulnerable groups of the society –orphans, widows & needy- to stand on their own feet and have regular income. The training activities have been designed to help the most vulnerable segment of Afghan refugee's population. These activities had provided the opportunity to widows and orphans & needy male and females to learn new skills and establish their own businesses or income generation activities. Participation in skill training program, identification, establishment and management of their businesses and income generating activities will provide these widows and orphans with new perspectives and experiences that will form their future development and enhance their ability, we have very good example of such kind of male and female in the camps, before attending the training course they were shy, depress and the family financial position was very bad, after completion of the course and getting their own business their moral are up, their financial position has been improved, and some of the female are doing very active role for their families and for the communities. On completion of the training we are providing small-scale loan with tool kit plus materials to enable the trainees to start their own business on easy installments.
